Australian Learning and Teaching Fellowships

WAND warmly invites you to attend this interactive workshop.

ALTF Convener, Dawn Bennett, is joined by Fellows Cobie Rudd (ECU), Chris Creagh and David Hill (Murdoch), and Lynne Roberts and Carmela Briguglio (Curtin). The WA Fellows will share their experiences, answer questions, and provide practical help and advice to colleagues wishing to apply. We would particularly like to encourage Indigenous colleagues to attend.

OLT Fellowships are category 1 competitive grants focused on excellence in learning and teaching in higher education.

National Senior Teaching Fellowships are awarded to outstanding scholars who are respected leaders in learning and teaching in higher education. National Senior Teaching Fellows undertake a significant program of fellowship activities, contribute to various OLT events and develop national and international networks appropriate to the Fellowship activities. They are prominent scholars in their disciplinary fields, recognised by their home institutions for their capacity to make significant contributions to educational leadership into the future. They are normally early or mid-career academics engaged in the scholarly practice of learning and teaching in higher education. National Teaching Fellows undertake a short program of activities over the course of 3-6 months, addressing an identified learning and teaching issue within their institution or discipline, with the goal of enhancing disciplinary or inter-disciplinary teaching and learning within their institution, and beyond.
