Internationalisation of the curriculum in theory and practice

For academic and professional staff; student services staff; academic developers

WAND warmly invites you to attend a presentation by Associate Professor Betty Leask from the University of Adelaide.

Betty is an Australian National Teaching Fellow. Her fellowship focused on internationalisation of the curriculum in different disciplinary and institutional contexts. In particular, she worked on developing strategies to engage academic staff in the process of exploring and making explicit the meaning of internationalisation of the curriculum (IoC) in their disciplines and programs. This workshop will focus on the process of internationalisation of the curriculum – potential blockers and how to overcome them, identification of short and long-term goals and resources to assist in achieving these.

Date: Thursday 6 June 2013 1.30pm – 3.30pm Afternoon tea will be provided
